

2007 REVIEW

2008 Sophomores: Erin Fleming, Lauren Bledsoe and Callie Rivers

A SEASON OF FIRSTS

With four senior All-America selections leading the way, Florida's 2007 Gators notched the program's 17th consecutive SEC title and advanced to the NCAA Sweet Sixteen. The Gators' 17 consecutive league titles tied the NCAA Division I women's volleyball record for most consecutive conference championships won.

THE 2007 GATORS

For the University of Florida volleyball team, the 2007 season was one of firsts and lasts.

There were firsts: first time in school history with three 1,000-kill players on the same team; first time with three 1,000-dig players on the roster; first setter to reach 5,000 assists, 1,000 digs or 300 blocks; and the first time in the rally scoring era that a player recorded 300 blocks and 300 digs in her career, just to name a few.

Of course, there were lasts, namely the last time around the block for a group of seniors that won 157 matches, including 84 league contests, captured four SEC crowns and set nearly 100 school records during their tenure at UF.

As polarizing as the 2007 season was, there was a constant at the end – an SEC title. The Gators posted a 19-1 record in conference to play win the SEC by four matches, tying an NCAA Division I women's volleyball record for most consecutive league championships won with their 17th in a row.

All of it – the firsts, the lasts – came, however, with the patented Florida formula: high-powered offense, hard-nosed defense and countless amounts of heart and determination. The Gators set school records for kills per game (17.49), ranking fourth in the nation in that department, and points per game (22.17), while also hustling their way to an average of 3.05 blocks per game that was good for 23rd in the country. When it was all said and done, UF was one of only five Division I teams to rank in the nation's top 25 in both kills and blocks per game.

Faced with beginning the year on the road for the first time in four years, the Gators responded with a three-game sweep of Illinois State and a four-game victory over Notre Dame to jump start a season-opening 16-match winning streak that tied the 1987 UF squad for the second-best start in school history.

Florida opened its 2007 home slate with the Campus USA Credit Union Invitational from Aug. 31-Sept 1, downing Georgia Southern, North Carolina State and No. 19 Santa Clara in succession. Senior setter Angie McGinnis took home tournament MVP honors, and was joined on the all-tournament team by senior outside hitter Marcie Hampton and sophomore libero/defensive specialist Elyse Cusack. The ball continued to roll with pre-conference wins over Florida State and Utah, the latter coming on the road behind 18 kills from senior Amber McCray, to send the Orange and Blue into the SEC season with an unblemished record for just the second time in head coach Mary Wise's 17 years in Gainesville.

Wins over Georgia and Auburn on the first weekend of SEC play got UF off on the right foot in the league, and sent it into a testing road trip to Mississippi and No. 22 LSU with added momentum. The Gators made quick work of UM on Friday with a 10-block performance that limited the Rebels to -.025 hitting on the night, but LSU came out firing on Sunday. Florida's seniors stepped up in a big way, as Hampton posted 20 kills and 10 digs for her sixth double-double of the season and middle blocker Kisy Killingsworth reeled off a key 4-0 service run late in game four to send the Gators out of Baton Rouge the same way they came in – undefeated.

The next weekend saw Florida hit the road yet again, with similar results, as the Orange and Blue swept Mississippi State on Friday night and took a four-game decision off of Alabama on Sunday. Killingsworth, who had broken the 1,000-kill barrier for her career in the win over LSU, posted four blocks in the defeat of the Crimson Tide to become just the fifth player in school history with 1,000 kills and 300 blocks.

Following its road swing, UF put on a show for the home fans with back-to-back-to-back sweeps of Kentucky, Tennessee and South Carolina, pushing their record to 16-0 and equaling the second-best start in program history. The victory over UK was an historic one for McGinnis, as she surpassed Heidi Anderson's 15-year old career assists mark of 4,855 early in the first game. With high spirits but less than 48 hours of rest after their win over the Gamecocks, the Gators took their 18-match road winning streak – tied for the ninth-longest in NCAA history, into Barnhill Arena on the University of Arkansas campus for a Friday night tilt on Oct. 12. Despite out-blocking the Lady 'Backs, 15.0-11.0, behind 10 from junior middle blocker Kelsey Bowers and winning the digs battle, 84-77, courtesy of Cusack's 27, UF dropped a five-game thriller to suffer its first loss of the season.

The Arkansas contest, however, was just the first of a three-match road trip for Florida, and the Gators bounced back with victories at Auburn and Georgia the following week. Bowers paced UF to victory on The Plains with a career-high 17 kills, and Hampton roared back with 20 in a three-game sweep of UGA in Athens. Home sweeps of LSU and Mississippi and a three-game defeat of South Carolina on Halloween, during which McGinnis broke the school record for digs by a setter, improved the Gators' record to 21-1 and led to a rematch with Arkansas, only this time the action was to take place in the O'Connell Center, where Florida hadn't lost a regular-season SEC match since Nov. 11, 2004.

Revenge was in the air that Sunday afternoon, as McCray and freshman outside hitter Callie Rivers combined for 25 kills and McGinnis dished out 48 assists in a three-game sweep of the Lady 'Backs. Bowers led the way with five total blocks to propel the team to a total of 10.0 on the day, marking its seventh straight outing with double-figures in the block column.

Florida next set out for its final SEC road trip of the year, coming back with sweeps of Tennessee and Kentucky, with the win over the Lady Volunteers clinching the Gators' 17th straight SEC title, and duplicated that feat at home the following weekend against Alabama and Mississippi State. Nearly 3,000 people turned out to watch UF dispatch the Bulldogs, and stuck around following the match to honor one of the most productive senior classes in program history, as Hampton, Killingsworth, McCray and McGinnis were saluted for their time at UF following the victory. Fans were also fortunate enough to see an unprecedented feat in the win over MSU, as Cusack moved past the 1,000-dig mark for her career faster than any other player in SEC history and teamed up with Hampton and McGinnis to give UF three 1,000-dig players on the same roster for the first time in school history.

After wrapping up the SEC slate, Florida made its way across the country to kick off the holiday season with a pair of matches at the Baden Thanksgiving Classic, hosted by Long Beach State University. The first outing in Long Beach resulted in a victory over Yale behind a 20-kill performance from Hampton, as Rivers chipped in with 17 kills and Killingsworth added a dozen. The following night saw UF turn in one of the gutsiest performances in recent memory against Long Beach State, falling in five games to the 49ers but displaying the heart and courage that has become a trademark of Florida volleyball. Already faced with adversity after dropping a nail-biting game one, the Gators stormed back to win game two by digging 16 balls and holding LBSU to a .000 hitting percentage. UF played, and won, its longest game of the season in the third stanza, putting up 5.5 total blocks and 16 digs to take a 38-36 win, but the victory was bittersweet as Hampton went down near the midway point of the game with a season-ending Achilles' tendon injury. The Gators continued to battle, and despite dropping game four, staged off several match points in game five before being handed a 20-18 loss.

The team received uplifting news on the way home from southern California when, with eyes glued to the tiny TV screens on the bus back to Gainesville, UF learned that it had been selected to host the opening rounds of the NCAA Championship for the third year in a row. The Gators entered the tournament having advanced to the regional semifinals in 15 of the last 16 years, and despite the absence of their offensive leader, they were primed and ready to make it 16-of-17.

Florida's first-round match pitted it against College of Charleston in a matchup that saw the Gators post their 11th straight sweep in their opening match of the NCAA Championship, defeating the Cougars in straight sets behind a career-high 18 kills from Rivers. UF didn't have much time to enjoy the win, however, as it was back on the court 24 hours later for a date with No. 23 Oklahoma. The Gators got off to a fast start, chalking up a season-high 8.0 team blocks in the opening game and tacking on another 4.0 in the second to hit the break with a 2-0 lead. The Sooners refused to quit in game three and pushed Florida to the brink, but a late 4-0 service run by freshman Lauren Bledsoe, who turned in a career-high 12 kills on the night, propelled UF to a 36-34 victory and a place among the last 16 teams alive in the nation.

Kisy Killingsworth was one of three Florida players on the 2007 team to have recorded 1,000 career kills.

The victory over OU was a milestone moment for McCray, who surpassed the 1,000-kill mark on the evening to take her place alongside classmates Hampton and Killingsworth in the elite club. McCray's feat also marked the first time in school history that the UF roster had boasted three 1,000-kill players.

The largest crowd ever to watch an NCAA Regional match in Gainesville turned out to cheer on the Gators in their bout with No. 3 Texas in the regional semifinal. After dropping game one, McCray stepped up with seven kills in the second frame to even the match for the Gators after Rivers and Killingsworth teamed up on a block to seal the 31-29 win that sent UF into the locker room on a high note. Texas responded after the intermission and took the next two games to capture the match, weathering a Florida storm the saw McCray and Killingsworth combine for 27 kills in the final match of their collegiate careers.

With all the firsts and all the lasts, it was perhaps the constants – wins, an SEC title, an NCAA regional berth – that stood out for Florida in 2007. All of the first-time accomplishments of the 2007 team will not be supplanted easily, and the lasting memories of one of the most prolific senior classes in program lore will continue to live on. With three starters returning and a five-member freshman class on the way in, the 2008 campaign is also shaping up to be one of more firsts than lasts, but one thing will remain constant – the Gators will continue to play with heart, desire and courage as they embark down the path of another season.

Amber McCray

An right-side hitter whose talent was outweighed only by her leadership abilities ... Finished her career with a .351 hitting percentage, the highest in school history by an opposite hitter ... One of just five players, and two non-middle blockers, in UF history to hit .300 or better in each of her collegiate seasons ... Moved past the 1,000-kill mark for her career in the second round of the NCAA Championship, giving the Gators three 1,000-kill players on their roster for the first time in school history (Marcie Hampton and Kisyia Killingsworth) ... Selected to attend NCAA Leadership Conference in May of 2005.
